

Betting Meetings

A betting meeting is a meeting held by a licensed club at a licensed venue at which no races are conducted, but at which betting occurs.

Under the provisions of the Racing Act 2002 (Qld), a licensed club must not hold a betting meeting unless:

- a) the betting meeting is held at a licensed venue of the licensed club; and
- b) the control body (Racing Queensland) is managing the venue at the time (by definition, RQ has included the meeting in the racing calendar); and
- c) the commission (Queensland Racing Integrity Commission) is exercising control at the venue at the time.

Please note, patrons at betting meetings can only bet on Thoroughbred, Harness or Greyhound races conducted at other racecourses, or sporting contingencies declared by RQ.

In considering applications for betting meetings, RQ may in its discretion:

- a) request further information in relation to a club's application to hold betting meetings;
- b) approve or reject a club's application to hold betting meetings;
- c) restrict the number of betting meetings that may be held by a club; and
- d) impose requirements on a club in relation to the conduct of betting meetings.
